Why choose Coal Fashion's leather handbags?

We at Coal Fashion strive hard to come up with unconventional and one of a kind design patterns that smoothly integrate fashion and comfort without compromising even a bit on the quality. Ours is the first Indian brand that is making its presence felt in the international markets as well. Not only do we have customers in India, but also in the USA, Canada and Dubai. Our collections are always unique and are never repeated. We take the design and uniqueness of our products very seriously. As for the quality, we procure leather from one of the finest tanneries in the world which is in Italy. Big international brands such as Prada also procure leather from here. Also, the other components of the bag are procured from Hong Kong which is the best market in the world for supplying fitting and backing materials.

Before we get our designers and workers to work on our products they have to undergo rigorous training that brings out the best in them. We take care that our workers work in a safe and friendly environment. Many brands tend to overlook the construction details of the bag. But that is something that will never happen with our products. Since ours is a luxury brand, even a minute detail is important for us. To avoid unnecessary usage of leather, we never use joints in both the front and back panels of the bag. The fact that every handbag is designed using two colours makes it necessary to use four times more leather as compared to a bag that uses just one colour. Hence, our bags are more expensive.

Our brand name is synonymous with quality. We have a stringent policy in place for quality checks. Even a minor defect leads to the rejection of a bag by the quality control team. We are proud to say that to date we have not had a single complaint regarding the quality of our bags. Not a single bag has been returned by the customer. Our goal is to compete with big brands all across the globe by bringing out more innovative products that meet all the international quality standards.

With so many online platforms selling various types of leather bags, you have plenty of options to choose from. Be careful though, do not take it for granted that all such platforms will sell a genuine leather handbag. Check out their customer review section and also where the brand stands in terms of trust and quality. You definitely have to try out Coal Fashions for buying the Best Classy women leather handbags in india and you won't be disappointed.
